

Abstract

There is provided a method and kit for rapid clinical diagnosis of HCV in which the amplimers are transcripts of a polyprotein gene of HCV. The amplicons are hybridized to a specific oligonucleotide probe, which allows the amplicons to be detected.